Overview

The Cache Creek management area includes 30 miles of Cache Creek. One of the most spectacular winter visitors is the endangered bald eagle, which feeds, soars, and roosts in the Cache Creek area from mid-October to mid-April. One of the few free roaming tule elk herds in California wanders over the area's grasslands and chaparral.

How To Get There

From Junction Highway 20/ Highway 53: Head east on Highway 20 approximately 4 miles. The trailhead is off the right side of the road.

From Junction Highway 20/Interstate 5: Head west on Highway 20 approximately 38 miles. The trailhead is off the left side of the road.
